Horace Mann High School Students Broadcast From Shenandoah Station

Two Skits and Vocal and Instrumental Music
Make Program.

William Garrett Announces

Popils Rehearse in Studio Before
Being Conducted on Tour to See Buildings.

"It is in connection with education" came over the air in a half-hour program broadcast by the Horace Mann high school from radio station KFNP, Shenandoah, Iowa, Tuesday evening, March 26.

The first number on the program was "This Is My Country," sung by the mixed ensemble. The students taking part were as follows: First soprano, Jo Dempsey, Margaret Fisher, Betty Lambert, and Golda Rasco; second soprano, Martha Clymens, Artie White, and Joe Ellen Wilson; altos, Marcia Garrett, Kathleen Hendrick, and Dorothy Smith; tenors, Donald Donahue, Ray Goodman and Ross Johnson; basses, Gene Hartzell and James Kimman. The group was directed by Mr. Ralph Hartzell of the College Conservatory of Music.

The second number was a skit entitled "The Father of Free Public Education." It was written by the freshman English class of Horace Mann high school. It told the life story of Horace Mann, for whom the school was named. Following is the cast of characters: Alice, Shirley Watson; Jane, Martha Nelson; Doris, Bertha Carter; Ann, Mary Hengeler; Mary, Dixie Mouchouse; Ruth, Helen Hollenbe; Janet, Meenie McClurg.

The setting is one spring morning outside the Horace Mann school building, where Alice, Doris, Ann, and Mary are talking to Janet and Ruth approach. The students tell the newcomers why their school is called Horace Mann. Ruth tells Janet, her cousin, that probably the most important things that Horace Mann accomplished in his life were "in connection with education." Janet is sure that she wants to go to a school named after such a great man.

Music followed the skit, with Martha and Sue Clymens playing a marimba duet. They played "Begin the Beguine," arranged by Cole Porter. This was followed by "Dancing on the Green," sung by the girls' ensemble, directed by Mr. Hartzell.

A second skit, also written by the

College Graduate Operates Machine

New Electronic Computer
Does Most Difficult
Calculations.

Miss Betty Jennings, a graduate of the College, with a major in mathematics, is now one of the operators of the new electronic computers at the University of Pennsylvania. These computers have astonished scientists with their great possibilities.

In February 18 issue of the Newsweek and the February 25 issue of Time magazine, appeared articles and pictures of the machine. Miss Jennings is the operator appearing in the background of both pictures.

According to the two magazine articles, the machine is able to perform calculations in two hours which ordinarily would require one hundred trained men over a period of one year. The machine was invented by Dr. J. W. Mauchly, a physicist, and J. Presper Eckert, Jr., a designing engineer, to meet Army needs.

In a recent demonstration, a five-figure number was multiplied by another five-figure number five hundred times. After one second, the correct answer was visible.

The new machine, which cost $400,000, will be housed at the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland, for further development. New models that will be built will be made available for peacetime studies in nuclear physics and aerodynamics. Industrial applications of the machine may prove of important value to the electrical and electronic industries, aircraft design, banking, insurance, and meteorology.

Miss Jennings has been working on the machine since June 1, 1945. She is a civil service employee in Ballister Research Laboratory of the Army Ordnance department. She is one of the six women who program the solution of various mathematical problems for the machine and also help in the operation of the machine.

After her graduation in the Spring of 1945, Miss Jennings was chosen by the University of Pennsylvania to undertake this new work, upon recommendation of officials of the College at Maryville.

Donald Grant Speaks to Social Science Students

The second section of the Social Science class heard Mr. Donald Grant, a British lecturer, on Wednesday afternoon, March 12, during their class period.

Dr. John L. Harr, instructor of the course, asked Mr. Grant to speak about the British political parties, especially the Labor party. The class had been learning of the formation of political parties in the United States.

Mr. Grant, during the class period, answered many questions concerning Great Britain as a whole.

For applied study of parties, both sections of this social science class had an election during the class period, March 14. The Committees in charge designed two parties with platforms and nominated their candidates. A vote was recorded to determine the victorious party.

Rabbi Silberman Talks on Judaism

Jewish Chautauqua People
Send Speaker From Omaha Temple.

"If there is not a just social order, there can be no social order at all," said Rabbi Lou Silberman of Temple Israel in Omaha, in the Assembly, March 27. Rabbi Silberman was sponsored by the Jewish Chautauqua organization. The topic of his address was "Judaism's Contribution to the Present World."

"Judaism," said Rabbi Silberman, "is the religion, the culture, the civilization, the evolved life of the Jewish people."

"The beginnings of Judaism," he said, "are told us in the Bible. 'Judaism has grown up,' he continued, 'through all phases of the western world and of the south-eastern world and has adjusted itself to the changes which have taken place.'"

The speaker continued, "Judaism is the foundation stone of Christianity. Judaism gave to the world a conception of God. Judaism did not discover God, but it gave to the world the God idea, the idea that speaks of unity (monotheism), the idea of a God behind all nature, a tremendous over-arching God, yet a God closely connected with men and interested in human relations."

"The Jews' religion did not remain their religion alone. It was transferred to two daughter religions, Christianity and Mohammedanism," the speaker said. These two daughter religions, according to Rabbi Silberman, spread the Judaism ideals throughout the world.

The speaker summarized Judaism's contributions to history. He said they were the idea of God, the idea of morality, the idea of social justice and social progress, and the idea of unity of mankind.

Concerning the idea of social progress Rabbi Silberman said, "Judaism's message, as did that of Christianity, set forth to save a modern world."

Of the idea of unity of mankind he said, "If indeed we have one Father, then we are all brothers." He also said that the Jewish ideal of democracy was at the very basis of our democratic way of life.

Dr. Blanche Dow Fills Three Speaking Dates

Dr. Blanche H. Dow has returned from a speaking tour. She spoke in Tarkio on Thursday afternoon, March 28. On the following day, March 29, she spoke at the Sedalia High School. Saturday morning, March 30, she gave a lecture at a meeting of the Teacher's Association of Sedalia.

While she was in Sedalia, Dr. Dow saw Miss Eva Maria Calix, a graduate of the College, who is teaching at Sedalia high school.

Dr. Ruth Lowery was absent from classes the first of last week on account of illness.

Greeting High School Seniors

Northwest Missouri Guidance Conference Is Attended Largely by H. S. Administrators

Specialist Come to College
Campus for Day With Invited People.

What do we believe in? What do we try to organize? How do we organize?

These were the questions Dr. Clifford E. Erickson, professor of education and director of the Institute of Counseling, Testing, and Guidance, Michigan State College, East Lansing, set out to answer at the first session of the Northwest Missouri Guidance Conference, held in the Horace Mann auditorium on March 21.

Answering the first question the speaker said that the Guidance, or Counseling, directors believe that (1) boys and girls are different, (2) that every student operates as an individual, (3) that every youngster has many possibilities, (4) that every individual should be helped to assume more and more responsibility to make decisions, (5) that no school experience is inherently good, and (6) that the adult world is becoming increasingly complex.

Dr. Erickson said that ones who were organizing a guidance program should provide for a continuous study of individuals, provide special help to students at critical periods, provide special help to teachers, and bring together all resources in the community to help boys and girls.

In telling school administrators who made up the conference how they should organize their guidance programs, Dr. Erickson said that they must recognize that no one else can carry the responsibility except the school administrators. He urged them to pick particular people for particular jobs. He said that by all means time enough should be set aside for proper counseling, saying that at least two hours a year should be given each child. He urged an in-service training program.

"Do not let the guidance program be a garbage can," he told the administrators. "Its purpose is to help youngsters find their problems and to help them solve them."

At the close of Dr. Erickson's talk, Dean M. C. Cunningham had just a word to say to the assembled group, welcoming the visitors.

The second speaker was Dr. Paul C. Polmanter, associate professor of education, University of Missouri, who talked on "Counselor Training on the Graduate Level." His talk told of what the University of Missouri is planning for the graduate courses in guidance, giving the administrators practical advice on preparing for introducing a guidance course in their own schools. He told them that the courses were founded on a psychological basis, that graduate students were getting over the term "I-Q" and using instead "ability levels."

At the end of the morning program, Mr. Bert Cooper, who was presiding, brought to the platform a group of people for a discussion on the subject. Taking part in the discussion were:

Mr. Marion E. Gibbins, principal, Central high school, St. Joseph; Miss Mary F. McQuitty, teacher, Tarkio High School; Mr. P. L. Skalth, Superintendent of Schools, Maryville; Mr. Everett Brown, State Supervisor, Northwest Missouri District; Mr. Albert Pike, Superintendent of Schools, Burlington Junction; Miss Martha Locke, Dean of Women, The Northwest Missouri State Teachers College.

At the afternoon session, the topic was "Some Problems of Missouri High School Students That Indicate the Need for Counseling Services." Mr. Glenn E. Smith, Supervisor of (Continued on page Two)

High School Journalists Visit College Staff-room

Among the visitors to the Northwest Missouri office on Senior day were members of the staffs of several high school newspapers.

"Wolverine Howl," the Marysville high school newspaper, had its staff well represented. Those who were in the office were Billie Pearl Kirk, June Marie Dexey, Alice White, Lorraine Wiegand, Nadine Lebow, Nancy Jo Wood, Margaret Ferguson, and Marilyn Estep.

Although Fillmore high school does not have a school paper this year, many members of their annual staff visited the Missouri office. These staff members of the annual are Raymond Wall, Dale Atkins, Dean Proffitt, Charlotte Burns, Nanetta Turner, Marjorie Stagg, Helen Rankin, Ruth Johnson, Eva Heckman, and Helen Jean Hare.

Two Tarkio seniors, LaVonn Logan and Lorena Freeman, who are on the Tarkio high school newspaper staff, visited the Northwest Missouri office and examined the make-up of the paper.

These and other seniors viewed the Northwest Missouri exhibit which consisted of a partially completed newspaper dummy, the evolution of a newspaper story, galleries of proof, samples of the Northwest Missourian, and picture mats.

Mrs. Alva M. Burch Dies After Four-Year Illness

Mrs. Alva M. Burch, who was formerly Miss Marie Landfather, an alumna of the College, died at the Martin Landfather Hospital in Maryville, March 23. Her husband, Alva Burch, who survives, is also a graduate of the College.

Mrs. Burch had been confined to the hospital for the last four years. She had been married since August 30, 1930, and had lived in Maryville prior to her illness.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Burch taught two years in the Camerion schools and six years in Benton high school, St. Joseph.

Mrs. Dreps Talks About Techniques of Pottery

Mrs. Joseph A. Dreps gave a lecture on pottery to the General Science class of Horace Mann high school, March 23, at 2 o'clock. The lecture was a part of a project the class planned on the study of clay as one of our natural resources. The class had an exhibit of pottery in the hall during the week and concluded the unit with Mrs. Dreps's lecture.

Mrs. Dreps gave the history of pottery and the technique of making pottery and applying design and glaze. She demonstrated how pottery was molded and showed the students pieces of pottery that represented different types of design and glaze which she spoke of in her lecture. She brought out the fact that the potter takes the common lump of clay and glorifies it by making it into a beautiful vase or figure to adorn our homes. She told the class that each of them was a potter who would take the clay of his life and glorify it by making it beautiful in form and symmetry or deform it so that it would be homely and useless.

The committee in charge of the exhibit were LeRoy Wilmes, Marcia Garret, Darlene Walker, and Donald Weatherman. Miss Margaret Frank-en teaches the class.

Community Groups Decide Numbers to Be Given

Mr. Willard Robb, member of the College Music faculty who is the director of the Northwest Missouri Community Symphony Orchestra, has announced a partial list of the program numbers to be performed at the coming joint-concert of the Community Orchestra and Chorus. Mr. Ralph Hartzell, chairman of the Music department and director of the chorus, will direct the number, "Tales From the Vienna Woods," by Strauss, in which both the orchestra and the chorus will participate.

"Overture to Der Freischutz" by Weber, "March Militaire Francaise" by Saint-Saens, and the "Russian Choral" by Tschalkowsky are three of the selections to be performed by the orchestra. Among the numbers by the chorus will be "Begin the Beguine" by Cole Porter and "Italian Street Song" by Victor Herbert.

Mr. Lyman Bodman, who is taking the place of Miss Ruth Nelson on the faculty for the spring term, is concert-master.

The program will be presented in May, but, as yet, the date has not been announced.

Miss Bewley Tells Mountain Stories

Reader of Monologues Says
Folk of Smokies Talk in Chaucerian Phrases.

During the assembly March 19, Miss Irene Bewley, a native of Tennessee, presented original monologues. She had appeared here two years ago in her Smoky Mountain sketches.

Her first presentation, entitled "That Thar Irish Tale," was the familiar story of red hen's escape from the fox, when she slipped out of his sack, placed a rock in the bag, and finally killed her enemy, thus enabling her to "live happily ever after."

In her next sketch, she told a story of a lady who had had a fear of death since childhood. She acted the part of the fear filled woman who finally realized there is no death, even though people cannot understand.

In the next sketch, "Managing the Women," Miss Bewley represented a typical mountaineer left in charge of his neighbor's store. In this sketch humor was introduced as people of the village came in to buy. "Of all jobs," the old man said, "managing the women is the hardest." He classified women into three groups, the "bossing kind," the "trapsin' kind," and the "snoopin' kind." During the scene, the mountaineer had been boasting of his power in managing his wife, but when she appeared, he meekly added that he must leave this time "just to humor her."

Before she presented her last monologue, Miss Bewley told of the customs and speech of the mountaineers. She remarked that these Smoky Mountain people retained more phrases from Chaucer and Shakespeare than any other people near there.

In her final sketch, "Folks Way Back Thar," she was dressed as an old woman with apron, shawl, and a pipe, who related stories of all the feuds in history with which she was familiar. She told of the fight of David and Goliath in a slightly humorous manner, but ended on a note of solemnity when she recited parts of the twenty-third Psalm.

Dorothy Wilson from Blythedale does not "know for sure," but she may be "in the College here next year."

Band to Present Formal Concert

Two Student Musicians to Be Featured in Solos,
Clarinet and Horn.

Among the musical numbers to be presented in the forth-coming formal concert of the College Symphony Band will be solo numbers with band accompaniment. Mr. Willard Robb, director, has announced. Tavier Wisdom, freshman music student at the College, will play "Concertino for Clarinet" by Weber. This will be Mr. Wisdom's second solo appearance in Maryville. He has studied with Mr. Robb while attending the College. Prior to his entrance here, he had played the clarinet for five years. Mr. Wisdom's home is in Stanberry.

A junior student, Leona Downing, will be the other soloist. She will play "Adagio" from the "Cello Concerto" by Haydn on the baritone horn. Miss Downing has done extensive solo work in school. While in high school she attended district, state, and national competitions, winning many honors. She played with three bands: 4H Band, Rockport high school band, and the Tarkio high school band. Miss Downing has also studied at the University of Kansas. During her semester there she was a member of the University Concert Band and baritone soloist with the All-Girls Band. She made her first performance here last year as a soloist on the freshman assembly program. Miss Downing is a music major. She has studied the baritone horn for six years. Her home is in Tarkio.

Other selections to be performed by the band as a whole include "Symphony in B-Flat Major" by Paul Fauchet, "Tango" by Isaac Albeniz, "Polka and Fugue" from the opera, "Schwanda the Bagpiper" by Jaromir Weinberger, and "Triumphal March" from "Peter and the Wolf" by S. Prokofiev.

The band has undergone several changes since it was first organized last fall. Among the former members, Roger Bishop, first clarinetist, writes that he has become a member of the army band at Camp Lee, Virginia. Other students who have relinquished their posts in the College band are Beverly Litsch, Patricia Norman, Betty McPherson, Frances Frazier, Bob Kurtzright, James Allan, Robert Jones, and Mack Carpenter.

Wren Sturten, Darl Gard, Virginia George, Betty Jenkins, Robin Snyder, Irene Hunter, Louise Allen, Harold Hall, Mary Kay Barman, Floydine Alexander, and Donna Martin are the newer members of the band. The membership now totals forty-six pieces.

Christopher Columbus is Portrayed by Dance Group

High lights from the life of Christopher Columbus were graphically portrayed in the dance-play given by Edwin Strawbridge and his dancers in the College auditorium, Wednesday evening, March 20. The combination of the spoken word and the action of the dance proved very effective in picturing the life of the discoverer of the New World.

Act one, the setting of which was a wharf in Genoa, 1400, depicted Columbus's early life, in all its joyous, comic, and serious aspects. The boisterous tarantella dance was followed in rapid succession by an interpretation of the waves by Columbus, the dragon dance and the comic piece of the Admiral and the mate vanquishing the pirates, and was brought to a climax by the dream sequence in which Columbus envisioned inhabitants of the oriental lands.

Act two, which took place in the audience room of the palace of the King and Queen of Spain, was alternately characterized by slow graceful court dances and the wild, impetuous gypsy dances, full of fire and color.

Act three, laid on the deck of the Santa Maria, depicted the moods of the sailors in depression, joyousness, and intrigue. There were sailor chanteys, dances representative of different nations, and Columbus's version of a dance before King Neptune.

Between acts one and two, Miss Esther Barrett, accompanist for the group, played a group of three piano solos. They were "Rondo Capriccio" by Mendelssohn, "Pantale Imromptu" by Chopin, and "Mala-queena" by Lecuno.

Hickory Sticks to Meet

The Knights of the Hickory Stick will hold a meeting Friday evening, April 5, at 6:30 o'clock at Benton high school, St. Joseph.

The guest speaker will be Mr. Lloyd E. Grimes, assistant State Superintendent of Schools. His subject will be "Implementing the New School Laws." Discussion and questions from the floor will follow.

Almost One Thousand Young People Come to Maryville for Senior Day

Mr. H. V. Neece Returns
College Business Manager

Mr. Harold V. Neece, who was on a leave of absence from the College for the duration of the war, returned to his duties at the College on March 8.

Mr. Neece, who had been a member of the Commerce department is now business manager of the College. He was elected to this position by the Board of Regents during his absence.

The new business manager had been a Lieutenant in the Navy for the past two years. He spent eleven months on board a ship in the South Pacific. He was transferred from the ship to the Officers Separation Center at Great Lakes and remained there until he received his discharge. He was discharged on March 6.

Board of Regents Makes Fee Change

Transacts Various College
Business at St. Joseph
Meeting, March 15.

Some changes for room and board at the Women's Residence Hall and at the Men's Quadrangle will go into effect at the beginning of the summer quarter. The changes were made by the Board of Regents of the College at a meeting in St. Joseph, March 15.

Room and board for the summer term will be $80 at the Quadrangle and $90 at Residence Hall.

Also effective with the summer term, the library and book rental fee will be $5, with a $2 refund when books are returned in a satisfactory condition. The $20 incidental and activity fee will remain at the same figure.

Board Handles Other Business

Dr. John Harr of the Social Science department was elected head of the department to succeed Dr. Gilbert Lyan, whose resignation was accepted. Mr. Ryland Miller was placed in charge of intercollegiate athletics to take the place of Mr. Wilbur Stalcup whose resignation was also accepted.

Mr. W. W. Cook was granted a leave of absence for study this summer at Ohio State University. The leave of Miss June Cozine, head of the Home Economics department, was extended from June, 1946, until September.

Rates for organ lessons in the Conservatory of Music of the College were fixed by the Board of Regents at $1.75 for a half-hour lesson to persons not enrolled in the College. For College students, the lessons are slightly less. A rate of $6 a quarter for using the Conservatory organ for practice was established for non-students. Students will be permitted to use the organ at a slightly reduced rate.

Freshman Social Science Students Stage Election

The Social Science 1C classes, under the instruction of Dr. John Harr, have been studying national politics, the political machines, the political parties, and the national elections. As a means of proving that national elections are not as simple as they seem, the social science classes have held mock-elections.

Dr. Harr appointed three committees, two to make up the opposing parties, and a third to handle the ballots.

The two parties of the 3:00 class were appropriately named "The Student Party," and "The College Kangeros." Representatives from each party gave election speeches so as to get votes for their party. After the speeches were completed, the students of the class were given ballots on which to cast their vote. Then, the ballot committee collected the ballots and counted the votes.

The winning party of the 3:00 o'clock class was "The Student Party," and the following people were elected to hold the respective offices:

President: Meredee Myers—Student Party.
Vice-President: Tavier Wisdom—Student Party.
Secretary: Jerrie Agler—Student Party.
Treasurer: Betty Ferguson—College Kangeros.

Dorothy England, a graduate of the College who has just been discharged from the WAVES, was a campus visitor on Monday, March 25. She expects to teach next year.

Don Willsie, one of the Maryville high school seniors, is planning to go with his family to Germany to be with his father, who is stationed in the Army there.

President Jones Welcomes
Visitors at Morning's
Assembly Hour.

Miss Judith Thom Performs

Dr. J. W. Hake Has Demonstration
Showing Relation of Physics
Principles to Music.

The 965 visiting seniors made a good impression on the College folk on Senior Day.

"The nicest bunch we've had since I've been here," said one of the janitors. "You could hardly tell that they had eaten lunches in the rooms where they ate. I just had to use a mop twice, and those were accidents. Now last year..." But that is another story.

"They were so quiet and well-behaved this year," said a faculty member who has lived through many Senior Days.

"They knew what they wanted to see," said another.

"My, what a lot of boys!" That came from one of the College freshmen girls.

By eight o'clock the seniors and their sponsors were beginning to arrive. They made their way to the registration tables on first floor, where each sponsor received an envelope with necessary materials and directions for the day. Soon the seniors had tagged themselves with their names and were ready to see what the College is like.

Up stepped some guides, who offered their services to parties to conduct them about the campus. They took a prescribed route, but allowed considerable freedom of their parties. The guides pointed out things of interest and answered questions; they showed the various buildings and stopped for exhibits where departments had arranged them. At 10:45 all the guides led their parties to the auditorium, where a program was presented by the faculty.

At the assembly, Mr. Ralph Hartzell led the singing of the national anthem, which was followed by the Lord's Prayer repeated by the group. Mr. W. W. Cook, presiding as chairman of the Public Relations committee, introduced President J. W. Jones, who welcomed the visitors to the campus, telling them to ask their guides to show them what they wished to see.

President Jones got a laugh when he asked, "Why is a college president like a college campus?" and then answered his own conundrum: "Because they both lie about the college." He hastened to add, however, "Now I'm going to prove that there is no truth in my answer, for I am going to tell you some true facts about the college." He told the high school students what the College has to offer them: preparation for elementary and rural teachers, preparation for high school teachers, preparation for any type of work for which the A. B. degree is a requirement, pre-professional preparation for almost any line of study they may wish to pursue.

The president impressed upon the young people the necessity of educating themselves for the work that will fall to them in keeping the four freedoms safe for the world. "Upon you," he said, "rests the important obligation to know world peoples. Only through understanding can people keep out of war." He spoke of the opportunities this college affords for fitting young people for this obligation. "The College welcomes you to the opportunities that are here to help you fit yourself to take your part," he concluded, "but above all, go to college somewhere."

Following President Jones on the program was Miss Judith Thom of the music faculty, who played three short piano numbers, and Dr. J. W. Hake, who gave demonstrations on "Physics and Music." Both were well received.

At the close of the assembly, students and their sponsors went to the various rooms assigned them and had their lunches. The College served them popsicles.

Three Attend Science Meeting
Three of the College faculty attended a meeting in St. Louis of the American Academy for the Advancement of Science last week. Dr. Irene Mueller left Tuesday night for the meeting, Dr. W. T. Garrett left Wednesday, and Dr. Ruth Lane left Thursday. The meeting lasted through Friday.

Mrs. Fred Keaster, one of the mothers, and Mrs. S. Combs came with the high school seniors from Fortescue to attend the events of Senior Day.

Mrs. Alberta Wilkerson Graham, a graduate of the College, accompanied the Union Star students on Senior Day.

THE COLLEGE OATH

"We will never bring disgrace to this, our College, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will respect and obey the College laws and do our best to inculcate a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this College to those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us.

HAVE YOU THOUGHT OF TEACHING?

So great is the demand for trained teachers that the subject of supplying these teachers is a matter of concern with every group of school administrators that meets. The lack of teachers for 1946-47 is the greatest since 1941, according to a report presented last week before the annual meeting, in Chicago, of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

It is almost unbelievable, but 60 per cent fewer elementary teachers were trained this year than in 1941. Furthermore, 11.8 per cent of the teachers employed last year have left the profession; the non-veterans who left their teaching jobs during the war show little inclination to go back to the positions they left to go into industry.

What does this mean to students who are in college today? It means that when they are ready for positions, there will be teaching positions for all who are qualified; and it means there will still be positions to be filled. It will mean that salaries will be higher. It should mean, too, that all who are qualified to teach, whether they had actually planned to teach or not, should consider the profession.

And what does it mean to students who are this year being graduated from high schools? It means more and better opportunities for them in the field of teaching if they prepare themselves to enter the profession of teaching.

Teaching is hard work—nobody who teaches will deny that—but it is a soul-satisfying kind of work too. Its dividends are not all in dollars and cents. It pays high rates in returns from the students—the love of little children so freely given the teacher, the respect from the older children and young people, the words of appreciation from both students and parents, the letters that come years later.

Have you thought about being a teacher? If you have not, it might be well to investigate the opportunities in the field of teaching.

WHAT OF TODAY?

Many speeches, lectures, movies, and books have as their subject the world of tomorrow. The future is of tremendous importance, but what of today?

The future depends on what happens today. Idle day-dreams of a wonderful future help nobody. Begin today to make some of those day-dreams come true.

If each individual folds his hands and says, "The future will take care of itself," the future will take care of itself, but not in the way which he desires. Toil and effort are behind every human-made great design, great piece of music, great invention.

Few people can afford to sit back and let the world go by and hope for the best.

One's thought and actions today may pattern the actions of people for centuries to come. Therefore, it is well to think before one acts. Well-thought-out plans do not often lead to disaster or dissatisfaction. Each person should strive to overcome too much shyness. He should remember that what he thinks is as important as what others think. If he waits always for the other person to take the lead, he may slow down the progress of civilization and of the world of tomorrow.

'SPRING HAS SPRUNG'

The campus has once again awakened to all the beautiful glory of spring. Bushes and trees have nearly all leafed out, and many are covered with sweet-smelling blossoms. The green of spring has taken over in full measure. The grass as well as the leaves renders the spring-like touch to the campus.

The warm air has already begun the spread of the annual contagious disease, "spring fever." Students are "pairing off" more and more for slow walks through the countryside and over the campus during the warm sunny days. Frequently the rain dominates for a day and helps keep the air smelling fresh and sweet.

Vignettes

Wandering through Residence Hall, you are immediately attracted to the clever and unusual wall decorations. The modern S. T. C. co-ed tries to think of everything possible to stick on the wall to attract attention.

When looking at the room, you can easily see that the most popular wall decoration is the "Back Home for Keeps" pictures. Also along this line, are the pictures of the girls' favorite movie actors, one in particular being Van Johnson. However, any good looking men they can find in advertisements are just as desired and just as popular.

Another favorite wall decoration is the bulletin board, which is usually made from wall board or covered card board. Almost anything can be found on these. Snap shots, souvenirs, newspaper clippings, and everything that the coed desires to save are put up for visitors to see, and also to remind her of those wonderful times she has had.

When there is no bulletin board, these pictures and clippings can frequently be found pasted on the wall in a helter-skelter manner. One girl has her initials cut out in large green letters on which she puts her keepsakes. This is very attractive as well as neat.

Upon entering one room, you are surprisingly attracted by the sight of an outstretched cat skin, which is about thirty inches long. The owner of this extraordinary decoration obtained the cat at a Chicago laboratory. Although it was already embalmed, she cut and stretched the skin herself. Therefore, this is a very valuable piece of decoration to her!

One room has nothing on the walls except sketched portraits of the girls who live in the room. These portraits were drawn of them by one of their college girl friends, and therefore, the owners are very proud of these pictures.

A peculiar wall decoration is the distribution of directions for the room to observe. By the door there is a sign which reads "Please Close the Door." Another sign tells the exact date each girl is to clean the room. Although this was a serious piece of work done by one girl for her roommates to observe, it is rather amusing to the visitor.

Other rooms have pictures of babies, pin-up girls, and study pictures the co-eds have made in art classes. As each of these different wall decorations proves very interesting to the S. T. C. co-ed, it is her pride and joy, for decorating walls is another enjoyable part of her college life.

University of California Inaugurates New Course

LOS ANGELES, CALIF.—(ACP)—Cooperating with the Institute of Industrial Relations on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California, University Extension on March 21 inaugurated a course of lectures on Grievances and Arbitration. Announcement of the new course, designed for interested Southern California business and labor executives, is made by George W. Robbins, head of Business Administration Extension for the University in Southern California.

University Extension is cooperating with the Institute of Industrial Relations by offering evening study for persons not in residence at the University and by organizing conferences which will bring to the community opportunity to discuss the results of research, study and practice by leading students in the field.

Arby Edwards proudly stated that he was from New York high school, but weekly added, "in Caldwell County." He plans to attend college here, next year.

Doris Zech and Dorothy Walk, two Senior Day campus visitors from Maryville high school, were in the east of the Senior Follies held February 4.

Warren Smith and Kenneth Dunlap of Westboro high school intend to enter the Army after graduation.

Horace Mann High School Students Broadcast

freshman English class, "English in the Hills," was presented by Bobby Oles as Hill Billy, Gene Hartzell as a journalist, and Henry Salice as a Horace Mann student. In this, the journalist and the student are traveling through the Ozarks when they meet a native. The Hill Billy is very poorly informed about world affairs because he cannot read. His speech, also, is very poor. The journalist and the student convince him that he should learn to read so that he can find out what is happening in the world. Dr. Ana M. Painter, chairman of the English department of the College, and Catherine Law, a student teacher at Horace Mann, directed the students in writing and presenting the skits.

To close the program, Mary Lou Valk, a junior high school student, played a piano solo, and the mixed ensemble sang "Vesper Hymn."

William Garrett, a senior at Horace Mann, announced the program.

Accompanying the students who took part in the program were Miss Law, sponsor, Mr. H. R. Dieterich, principal, and the following members of the freshman class, who were understudies for the characters of the skit about Horace Mann: Doris Allen, Virginia Bird, Bonnie Bowman, Velma Braden, Charlene Davidson, Joan O'Riley, Darlene Walker and Margaret Wholford.

Upon arrival in Shenandoah, the students rehearsed at the studio and then were taken on a tour of the buildings. They were treated to ice cream cones and popcorn and came away with souvenirs of book matches and postcards, as well as three packages of flower seed a piece.

Lowell Schlapia of Benton, Iowa, was airing his delight on Senior Day at seeing so many beautiful girls; Bob Andrews (same school), asked what he liked best about the College, said, "The nurse!" The Stroller wonders what is wrong in Iowa that the senior boys have to come to Missouri to see beautiful girls.

The Stroller would like to make an "Engagement Announced" item for his column, but he has been told that only a girl's parents should make such an announcement. But he can tell you that one of the high school senior-girls received an engagement ring on Senior Day.

The Stroller saw one of the Northwest Missourian reporters on Senior Day proudly showing her "Press" badge, but how her feathers fell shortly when one innocent-looking senior inquired, "You mean you're from the Dry Cleaners?" Ouch!

Have you been wondering what has been the matter with Annie Lee Logan? Well, the Stroller heard Miss Logan say, "Harry left Monday night in the rain, and it has dampened my spirits so much that they haven't dried out yet. I only hope my teachers understand."

The Stroller heard only one disparaging remark about Senior Day—"A boring time was had by all." But that was to be expected, he thought, for it was a Horace Mann senior who made it. How could those seniors be expected to get excited about seeing the same campus on which they have grown up? It's their campus, you know, as well as the campus of the College students. The Stroller followed one or two of the Horace Mannites around later in the day, and from the looks of things they had seen a few interesting things (excuse us, interesting people). At least, some lively conversation were going on in boy-meet-girl fashion!

Before Charles Wynn of Quitman could answer as to what his hobby is, a person in the group said, "Love-making!" and no one in the group, not even Charles seemed to be of any other opinion. The Stroller thinks some of the seniors certainly have interesting hobbies—and wonders if any of the Horace Mann girls met Charles.

The Stroller did not see any of the College women taking possession of any of the visiting high school senior boys, but when she went to the All-Greek dance on Saturday night, a week ago, she saw some imported high school boys as escorts for some of the College women. Oh, well, College men are rather scarce. Did you meet the Stroller's escort? Who was he?

Corvallis, Oregon —(ACP)— Men who want to carve roses properly, prepare meals or just cook will have an opportunity to learn when food preparation for men is given spring quarter. No prerequisites are needed for men to take this two-credit course which had been discontinued during the war years.

One member of the Purdue English department recently cooked himself a beautiful stew, but unfortunately there was just too much for one person. He asked and ex-army man to dinner and at last reports the G. I. was still staying with the prof because rooms are hard to find.

Miss Darlene Grebert came to the campus Senior Day as a sponsor to Braddyville's six seniors. Miss Grebert teaches mathematics and English in the Braddyville high school. She was a student of the College the summers of 1943 and 1944 and plans to be again on the campus this summer, and perhaps next winter.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Dykes, father and mother of Miss Mattie M. Dykes of the English faculty, celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary on March 28. They live on a farm near King City.

Who Will Be Queen? That Is Question

Over Queen and Her Four Attendants Are Named Just as Group.

Who is going to be Tower queen? That is a question only members of the Tower staff can answer, and do not tell what they know. General public knows only this: one of five young ladies—Evelyn Myers, Roberta Finke, Sue Olsen, Mary Garrett, Lorene Jensen—who represent the four attendants and the queen herself.

The Tower Staff used a unique method of choosing the Tower queen. They asked ten organizations of the campus to choose a candidate for Tower Queen. The organizations, which elected a candidate were the two fraternities, sororities, the Varsity Villagers, dance hall, the Northwest Mission, the Tower staff, the Veterans' Club and the Student Senate. The candidates for queen were: Evelyn Myers, Roberta Finke, Sue Olsen, Mary Garrett, Lorene Jensen, Janet Drennen, and a Caldwell. The student body of the college then elected the queen and her attendants by voting their favorites. The identity of Tower Queen is to be kept secret until she is crowned, which will take place later in the year.

Varsity Villagers Group Sponsors Penny Carnival

The first floor of the Administration building was the scene of a affair, Thursday evening, March 14. The event was a penny carnival sponsored by the organization of the Varsity Villagers under direction of Miss Martha Locke, one of women at the college. The lights hung long streamers, green and white paper. As one entered the door he was able to buy balloons and whistles. The side of the house with the fortune teller and the house were next in line. After the two features of the evening, might go fishing for a prize in fish pond, or he might toss pennies into the tub of water or shoot and attempt to hit the bull's eye. Then one was able to have a ride in a few minutes a shadow box which actually resembled a subject. True to the tradition of carnivals, there was a bingo game. The Bearcat's Den was occupied those who cared to dance. Sandwiches, popcorn, punch, and ice cream were sold there, also. The committees in charge of the carnival included most of the members in the Varsity Villagers organization.

Mr. Richard (Dick) Kirby seemed feel very much at home on Senior Day, when as sponsor for the day of high school seniors from Clinton, he was renewing acquaintances at his Alma Mater.

"I want to teach school next fall," Betty Jeffers, a senior from Maryville, Iowa, Betty added that if she could not secure a school, she would probably attend college. Her favorite subject is mathematics.

Agency was represented by its senior class, which includes eight girls and two boys. Three members, Emma Wade, Dixie Lytton, and Mary Catherine Long, are undecided as to what they will do after graduation. Wilma and Dixie both play the clarinet.

Johanna Zopf, member of the team group here for Senior Day, plans to enroll in the college next year. Her mother, the former Miss Meadows, attended the college. Johanna is interested in music, particularly vocal work.

Altha Dougherty of Union Starred on Senior Day that few people know to the end of her name without making a mistake in spelling. The reporter can put down a mark for her credit, because she spelled Dougherty's name correctly the first time.

Lawrence Robertson of New plans to go to college some day and major in engineering, but he wants to go to the Army before can complete his education. Lawrence is a forward on the basketball team and secretary of class.

College Weddings

Tarpley-Mitchell

Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Tarpley announce the marriage of their daughter, Norma Louise, to Chief Specialist Ralph T. Mitchell, Jr., U. S. Navy. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Mitchell sr., Bell, California are the parents of the groom.

The ceremony took place March 19, at "Little Church of the Flowers," Forrest Lawn, Calif.

The bride attended the college and was a member of Pi Epsilon sorority. For the past year Mrs. Mitchell has been employed in Los Angeles.

Mr. Mitchell was attached to the ship's company at the college for two years. He has been stationed at Pearl Harbor and Guam. He is now on a terminal leave and will be re-employed by the Columbia Steel of Los Angeles.

They are now at home at 6420 Clarkson, Bell, California, after a week's trip to Lake Arrowhead.

Announces Engagement

Mr. Frank Thompson of Wheatland, Wyoming, formerly of Barnard, announces the engagement of his daughter, Mary Lee, to Joseph G. Burney of California. The wedding will take place early in the summer.

Miss Thompson was a student of the college in 1941. For the past year she has made her home in Wheatland.

Lewis-Gore

Miss Mary Joyce Lewis of St. Joseph, a graduate of the college in the class of 1943, was married March 23, to Lieut. Logan M. Gore, Jr., also of St. Joseph. Following a short wedding trip, the couple are at home at 2901 Arlington Street, St. Joseph.

Temple-Sigrist

Miss Audrey Temple and Lieut. James Raphael Sigrist were married March 10, in the Wyatt Park Baptist Church of St. Joseph. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Louella Temple of Denver, Colorado, the bridegroom, a graduate of the college, class of 1943, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Sigrist of Helena.

Baker-Cottrell

Miss Margaret Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wesley Baker, was married at four o'clock Sunday afternoon to James Melvin Cottrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel James Flood, Maryville, at the First Christian church, The Rev. D. Franklin Kohl, pastor, officiated in a double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Cottrell is a graduate of Maryville high school and MSTC. She was president of the STC music council, member of Northwest Mission staff, student senate and Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority. She served as organist for the First Christian church three years before she became music supervisor in the consolidated school system, Macedonia, Iowa.

Mr. Cottrell was graduated from Maryville high school and was a student of MSTC before entering the service. He was discharged in December, 1945, after thirty-eight months in the army air force, twenty-two months which were spent overseas.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Davis of Derby, Iowa, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Ann Davis of St. Joseph, to Harvey L. Thompson of Ford City. The wedding date has not been set.

Miss Davis is a graduate of the college with the class of 1944 and was one of the four high ranking students of that class. While in the college she was on the Northwest Mission staff and the editor of the Tower.

Mr. Thompson, who also attended the college at Maryville, 1940-1942, served with the signal corps for 38 months. At the time he was discharged last October, he held the rank of a staff sergeant.

The Horace Mann seniors had seen almost everything of interest on the campus before Senior Day. However, Loretta Shelton said that she had not seen the inside of the Quads before the Senior Day tour of the campus. They had not seen some of the rooms in the Administration building since the rooms had been redecorated. When the seniors arrived at the Residence Hall lobby, they settled themselves in the big, comfortable chairs and divans and sighed, "Oh, we're satisfied."

International Relations Club Elects New Officers

The International Relations Club elected officers at a meeting March 21. The new officers elected were president, Manley Thomson, and vice-president, Barbara Andrews. The secretary of the organization, Marguerite Whaley, was re-elected. Reports were given by Miss Whaley and Miss Andrews of the recent International Relations Clubs' Conference at Emporia, Kansas.

Herman McClanahan and Miss Andrews were made a committee to find out and report more information on the plan of the American Association for the United Nations for International Relations Club Activities.

The club decided to hold its meetings for the spring quarter the second and fourth Wednesday of each month.

Miss DeLuce Sponsors Buchanan County Club

Members of the Buchanan County Club were hosts and hostesses to the schools visiting from Buchanan County on Senior Day. They met with the representatives from DeKalb, Easton, and Agency high schools for lunch in the Art Department.

The game of "Human Bingo" served as an ice-breaker for the group, this being followed with several minutes of group-singing.

Miss Olive DeLuce of the Art Department is the Buchanan County sponsor, and temporary chairman of the club are Lois Gordon and Maxine Fehrman.

Twenty students in the college are from Buchanan County. They are George Ashworth, Elmer Barton, Phyllis Butts, Fred Davis, Davis, Helen Davis, Roy Davis, Lorraine Driver, William Elliott, Maxine Fehrman, Esther Gasper, Lois Gordon, Herbert Hackman, Wilma Ischo, Clara Judson, Emerson Matthews, Chester Parks, Robert Robertson, Norma Smith, and Manley Thomson.

The club is planning a picnic to be held early in April.

Gene Polk Succeeds to Presidency of Veterans

Wilmer Martin has resigned as president of the Veterans' Club. The successor to the office is Gene Polk. "During the coming weeks all veterans who do not now belong to the association are urged to attend any meetings that may be called. The next meeting of the club will be April 8.

Miss Darlene Sybert of Hopkins and Miss Mary Lou Rusk of Mount Airy, Iowa, have sent in their measurements for cap and gown and have said that they expect to take part in commencement activities. Both have completed requirements for their degrees.

Miss Mattie M. Dykes and Dr. Joseph A. Dreps visited high schools in Stanberry and in King City on Friday, March 15. They visited the high schools in Albany and McFall on Monday, March 18. Mrs. Dreps accompanied them, and in Albany she talked to the primary children.

Dorothy Jose of Clearfield, Iowa, one of the Senior Day visitors, does not plan to attend college as she will be married soon after graduation.

The main ambition of Mrs. Betty Cooper, a New Market, Iowa, senior, is to get through school and join her husband who is in the service.

Robert Lee Davis of New Hampton declared that he liked all his school subjects equally well. He is a member of the Future Farmers of America. He has no definite plans for the future.

Pickering's senior class is composed of nine members. Mrs. Edmond Lemaster, who is the sponsor, graduated from the college in 1939. She is Miss Elaine Lemaster's sister-in-law.

Dale Atkins, Dean Proffitt, and Raymond Wall were three of the Senior Day visitors from Fillmore high school. All three boys are on the high school annual staff. Raymond Wall is interested in basketball and is one of the players from his school.

Eleven seniors from Fillmore were at the college on Senior Day. Robert Schanks was not able to come as he went into the Army at the beginning of this school term.

Collecting stamps and post cards is the interesting hobby of Georgia Clark, a senior from New Hampton. She also likes sports, especially volleyball and soft ball.

The Burlington Junction seniors were accompanied by Mr. Albert Pike, superintendent.

Mr. Eugene Larmer, who was sponsor of the eight seniors of New Hampton, graduated from high school and college in Maryville.

To Judge War Crimes

Community Sing Opens Assembly

Seniors From Three High Schools Give Senior Day Program.

The two o'clock assembly on Senior Day, March 25, began with a community sing led by Kenneth Tebow. Betty Lou McPherson was at the piano. Some of the songs were old favorites such as "Home on the Range," "I've Got Sixpence," and newer songs such as "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows" and "It's a Grand Day for Singing."

A skit, "Miss Frannie's Bomb," was given by Burlington Junction seniors. Their sponsor, Mr. Albert Pike, introduced each senior and the cast of the play. The characters were Papa Bobcock, Donald Hagee; Miss Fannie, Mary Ann Scholer; Miss Clara, Dorothy Howell; and Eddie Pratt, Bill Westcott. The play was highly entertaining and showed promising talent.

A solo, "Beyond the Blue Horizon," was sung by Doris Marquart of Westboro.

A rhythm band from Tarkio composed of two trumpets, a saxophone, drums, and piano, played numbers of the type that made one's feet dance. An original piece, a live beat, was donated by the drummer.

Students from Horace Mann gave the last part of the program. First the Girls' Ensemble sang "Dancing on the Green." The members of the ensemble are: Margaret Fisher, Jo Ellen Wilson, Jo Dempsey, Artie White, Kathleen Headrick, Marcia Garrett, Dorothy Smith, Betty Lambert, Martha Clymens, and Golda Rasco.

The mixed chorus then sang two numbers, "Vesper Hymn" and "This Is My Country." The members of the chorus are Donald Donahue, Roy Goodman, Gene Hartzell, Ross Johns, James Kinman and the members of the Girls' Ensemble.

The last number on the program was a marimba duet, "Begin the Beguine," played by Martha and Sue Clymens.

Former Student, W. S. Taft, Is Promoted to Sergeant

LEYTE, P. I.—William S. Taft has just been promoted to Sergeant at the 141st Replacement Battalion on Leyte, P. I. Sergeant Taft is serving as Company Clerk. He is the husband of Mrs. Martha Jane Taft of Maryville, Missouri.

Overseas since August 1944, Sgt. Taft is entitled to wear the Asiatic-Pacific Theater Ribbon, the Victory Ribbon, the Good Conduct Ribbon. Sgt. Taft is a former student of Princeton high school, Princeton, Missouri, and the Northwest Missouri State Teachers' College. He plans to return to college when he is discharged from the army.

Sgt. Taft is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Taft of Princeton, Missouri.

Vernelle Cox, a senior from Graham, who was here for Senior Day, is especially interested in music work. She plays piano and sings. Vernelle expects to come to the college for the Spring Concerts.

In the Sheridan senior class is Bob Wilson, who prefers science and laboratory subjects. His hobby is mechanics, and, as he says, just tinkering with motors.

Seniors Tell About School-Life at Kearney

There are seven members of the senior class at Kearney, and every one of them are girls. Six girls visited the college on Senior Day. One girl was unable to attend because of illness.

The whole class are members of the senior play, which has the title of "Life at Aunt Minnie's." Ada Corum plays the part of Aunt Minnie. Ada's favorite past time, aside from her school work, is singing.

The girls are members of the school paper, which is called "Skipper." Geraldine Massey is the editor of the "Skipper." Geraldine takes great pleasure in participating in all sports.

Marilyn Arnold has a very profitable hobby. She likes to indulge in the art of being a beauty operator. Marilyn's mother, the former Ethel McIlvain, is a former student of the college. She was a student around the year of 1915.

The remaining members of the class are: Geraldine Harmon who likes to dance and keep a scrapbook; Jean Kresse, who likes to take and collect snap-shots; and Barbara Hessel, who likes to play the piano.

The reporter found this group of seniors very interesting to interview.

Galano Sports Editor Sees Campus Jack Eversly, the sports editor of "Galano," the Gallatin high school paper, was one of the campus visitors Senior Day, March 25. This year he went out for football and is going out for track. He was on Gallatin High's first team in football, and was named the second best left guard in the conference in which the team played. Being interested in dramatics, he has been taking a speech class.

Betty Has Been Editor Betty Quador from Bellevue high school is to act the part of the radio singer in the senior play, "Hillbilly Courtship," to be presented this spring. For part of this year Betty was editor of the school paper, the "Bellevue Bugle." One of her interests is music, especially singing and playing the piano. Her hobby is flying. Her future is as yet undecided, but she is considering nursing as a career. Betty was one of the guests at the college on Senior Day.

Elizabeth Cain, whose hobby is horseback riding, was one of the seniors from Pattonsburg here, on Senior Day, March 25. She is considering a teaching career, but has not yet decided which college she will attend. Her sister, Virginia Cain, attended school here one summer.

Marilyn Gorton of Maryville high school said that she had never seen the inside of the dormitory before. She said they were enjoying everything on Senior Day except the rain.

Conservatory of Music Students Give Recital

In a recital at the Horace Mann Auditorium on Wednesday, March 27, at 8:15 p. m., the conservatory of Music of the College presented 8 of the pupils of Miss Judith Thom and Mr. Willard Robb.

Irene Hunter presented Rachmaninoff's "Moment Musical, Op. 16, No. 5"; Joan Miller, Schubert's "Impromptu in A-Flat Major"; Dorothy Anderson, "La Solree dans Grenade"; and Judy Harper two selections, "Capriccio in B-Flat Major" by Scriabin-Hutchinson and "Nocturne in C-Sharp Minor, Op. 27, No. 1" by Chopin. Those persons are all pupils of Miss Thom.

In the voice and clarinet division of the recital, Louise Bilby, Joan Miller, and Taverne Wisdom were the pupils presented. Miss Bilby, accompanied at the piano by Beverly Holt, sang "Dedication" by Franz; Miss Miller, accompanied by Mary Ruth Tebow, gave the clarinet solo, "Valse Trieste"; and Mr. Wisdom, accompanied by Darl Gard, played "Concertino in C-Minor" from Weber on the clarinet. These of the voice and clarinet section are all the pupils of Mr. Robb.

Robert Findley visited the college on March 27. Mr. Findley left college at the beginning of the spring quarter to enter the armed services, but he was recently informed that he need not report until June. He has been taking correspondence work from the extension department of the college.

Ruth Holbrook, a senior at New Point, plans to attend the college at Maryville next year and major in journalism. Her sister, Lenore, is a sophomore here this year. Her mother also attended Northwest Missouri State Teachers' College. Ruth's hobby is reading and she reads everything that she possibly can.

Beatrice Wooten and Evelyn Baker both decided that they like commercial subjects in school work, but their plans for the future are indefinite. Beatrice and Evelyn are members of the Barnard senior class. Mrs. Dorothy McFitt, a former student at the college, accompanied the seniors.

One senior who has definite plans for the future is Layvonne Westcott, of the Burlington Junction group. She wants to attend college here at Maryville, majoring in home economics. Layvonne's hobby is collecting what-nots.

Marvin Lippincott, a senior at Stanberry, plans to go to college and major in mathematics and industrial arts. Marvin is a forward on the basketball team, vice-president of his class, and a member of the cast of the senior play. He has reading for a hobby.

Lorrene McClurg, a senior at Jameson, plans to take a business course or be a teacher. She would like to attend the college at Maryville if she takes up teaching. Dancing is Lorrene's hobby.

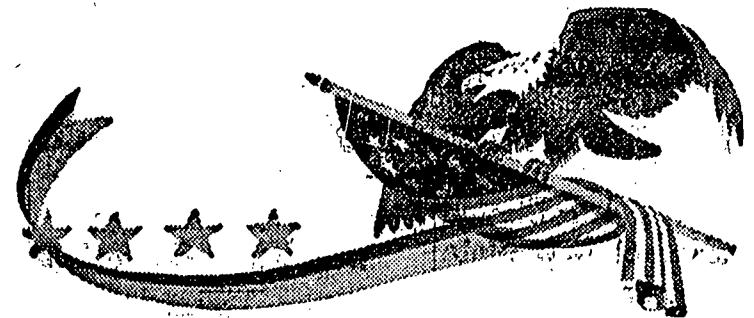

Loren Worley, a senior at Jameson, is expecting to go to the Army after school is out and would like to go to West Point. For a hobby Loren collects queer rocks and likes to go hunting.

Alma Ohrt, a senior at Rockport, plans to stay on the farm this summer and take up nurses' training in the fall. Bookkeeping is her favorite subject. For hobbies she collects perfume bottles and likes bicycling.

Owen Harris, a senior at Maryville, will either be at home or in the Army after school is out. He is a guard on the basketball team and sergeant-at-arms of the senior class. If he goes to college, he will major in agriculture, he says.

Thelma Kunkel, of the New Point senior class, likes commercial subjects, and plans to take a business course after graduation. She also likes volleyball.

Marcelene Long spent the week end of March 15-17 at the home of relatives in Grant City.

Those in Service

Tells Effects of Atomic Bombs

Petty Officer Eugene Stiles, Sioux City, Ia., who was in the V-12 navy program at STC, Maryville, was back here last week recounting his experiences while with the occupation forces in the A-bombed cities of Nagasaki and Hiroshima, Japan.

Although the military had made arrangements for the government of these two cities, Stiles' boat was the first cargo ship to reach the port of Nagasaki after the surrender.

After the crew of the Tyrrell, AKA, an auxiliary cargo attack ship, of which Stiles was a member, had viewed the waterfront, the crew began looking for the ruins of the city proper. Stiles said they were more than dumb-founded by the devastating effect of the atomic bomb, which was lowered by parachute. There were no pox marks in the ground, as one might expect from an explosion. Instead, Stiles said, they found only crumbles of what had been the business section of a large city. "It looked like the buildings were just shaved off," the recently discharged navy officer said.

Hold No Grudge

The people of the A-bomb devastated cities seemingly held no grudge against the United States, Stiles commented. He said that the Japanese government had warned them to leave. Stiles, who also was at Kure, told of his conversation with an American-educated Japanese woman. Her husband, who had studied medicine, was in New Guinea at the time, and she held little hope for his return.

Stiles said that this Japanese woman said that the Japanese had no reason to complain of the peace terms and said that the Japs respected MacArthur. Stiles commented that the Japs generally hold respect for one in authority. The Japanese woman personally felt that the fall of Japan was a good thing for the people.

Stiles told about the force of the atomic energy to the warehouses at Nagasaki, which were protected by hills leading to the city proper.

W. A. A. Sends Three Delegates From College to Attend State Conference

College W. A. A. Is Elected President of New State W. A. A. Organization.

Friday and Saturday, March 15 and 16, were two days set aside in Columbia for a state conference of delegates and sponsors of the Women's Athletic Associations of colleges in Missouri. The object of the conference was to lay the groundwork for state organization of the women's athletic associations. Colleges represented were Lindenwood, Stephens, Christian, Washington University, Park, Missouri University, Southwest Missouri State Teachers College, Southeast Missouri State Teachers College, Central Missouri State Teachers College, Northeast Missouri State Teachers College, and Northwest Missouri State Teachers College.

Delegates from here, Wren Stirren, Betty Furman, and Miss Bonnie Magill, sponsor, left for Columbia at one o'clock Saturday morning on the Wabash in a downpour of rain. When they arrived in Columbia at 8:30 a. m. it was still raining, but soon the rain stopped and it was pleasant during the rest of the day.

Discuss Desirable Practices
At the first assembly meeting held Saturday morning, the topic of discussion was "Desirable Practices in Athletics." A representative from each college gave a brief discussion of their viewpoints and summarized the year's work of their organization. Miss Stirren represented the College association in the discussion.

Following the assembly, a lecture-demonstration was given in volleyball and swimming. Miss Norma Leavitt of M. U., a member of the National Board of Officials for Volley Ball, conducted the volleyball demonstration. The game was called by student officials who had been rated by the Columbia Board of women officials. The swimming demonstration was sponsored by the Swimming Club and officiated by the students in the swimming technique course. A novel relay race concluded the demonstration of events of beginner, intermediate, and advanced swimmers.

Luncheon for the official delegates and sponsors was served in the Home Economics building by members of the Home Economics Club. Sponsors and delegates were introduced and the Dean of Women of Columbia made a short talk.

Miss Furman Leads.
Discussion groups were held in the afternoon. Miss Furman acted as leader in the discussion group on "Program Planning and Financing." Miss Stirren attended the discussion group on "Point Systems and Awards." Two other groups met and discussed "Competition" and "Constitution Revision."

Following the discussion groups, a general assembly was held to summarize the group discussions. At this time it was announced that the Women's Athletic Association of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College had been elected to serve as the president organization of the state association and that the State Conference for 1947 would be held at Maryville. The W. A. A. at Lindenwood would appoint one of its members to act as secretary of the state association. Miss Margaret Putman, sponsor of W. A. A. of Southwest Missouri State Teachers College, was appointed faculty adviser of the state association.

The conference was concluded by a dance program given by members of Dance Club organizations of Stephens, Christian, and Missouri University.

Would Take Preparatory Work
Vada Grissinger of DeKalb spent much of her time on Senior Day getting information about courses she could take in the College this summer as preparatory work for entering a nurses' training course this fall. Miss Grissinger is the daughter of the former Miss Charlotte Mallory, a student of the College some years ago.

Three Become Actives.
At a meeting of the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority, Wednesday, March 13, Gene Keown, Marcelle Redburn, and Geraldine Gebert were made active members of the sorority.

At least one set of twins was on the campus Senior Day, March 25. Doris and Dorothy Steins from Maryville high school are active in school affairs. They are interested in dramatics and both had a part in the Senior Follies, February 4. The twins both do a part of the typing for the school magazine, "The Reflector."

Eugene Hillyard, one of the eight visiting seniors here March 25, from New Hampton high school, takes an active part in the school affairs. He is one of the cast of the senior play to be held soon. He goes out in athletics for basketball, soft ball, and track. He plans to go on to a college, probably the University of Missouri.

Dale Larson of Lamoni, Iowa plans to attend Graceland College next year.

Physical Education Group Will Attend Convention

Twenty-two physical education majors will go to St. Louis on Wednesday, April 10, to attend the national convention on Health, Physical Education, and Recreation. They will return on Sunday, April 14.

Those who will make the trip are Mary Lloyd Taul, Wren Stirren, Juanita Ford, Lois Gordon, Esther Gasper, Dorothy Harshaw, Maxine Jensen, Dorothy June Masters, Beverly Osburn, Dortha Shupe, Mercede Myers, Doris Polk, Mary Bibby, Mildred Smith, Doris Hollenshe, Dile Murray, Sue Philip, Roberta Robertson, Nylene Luyster, Sarah Jane Bowers, Maries Busby, and Thelma Overly.

Spring Has Arrived

Spring has definitely arrived at the College, to judge by the usual signs of spring house-cleaning. Rooms 226 and 302 have been completely redecorated. The walls have been painted a light, new color, and the floors have been sanded and waxed. There are numerous other rooms that are on the waiting list to be redecorated.

Alumna Sponsors Seniors

Mrs. Wilma Laughlin Stephenson accompanied the thirty seniors from Stanberry. Mrs. Stephenson graduated in 1940. Among the students who accompanied her were Betty Lou Bakyr who plans to attend college in Bradford, Massachusetts and major in music; Dolores Reed who plans to attend Denver University in preparation for nurses' training; Kathleen Jennings, a sister of Betty Jennings, a graduate of the College; and Wanda Croomer, who plans to enter a beauty school.

Two of the thirty-six Tarkio high school Senior Day campus visitors were Barbara Gray and Elizabeth Cornell. Both girls had a part in the all-school play and in a satire which constituted part of a program put on at the Wadsworth Veterans' Hospital. Elizabeth's hobbies are poetry and classical music. Barbara enjoys "all kinds of music."

Three seniors of the College Springs, Iowa, high school have sisters or brothers who are now attending the College. They are Beverly McCowen, whose sister is Betty McCowen, Jim Stanton, who is a brother of Betty Jo Stanton, and Dick Elliott, who is a brother of Bill Elliott.

The superintendent of Skidmore, Mr. Wilber Williams, said that he accompanied 14 seniors to the College for Senior Day. Only one member of the class did not attend. Mr. Williams said that he thought he had attended every Senior Day that the College had held and that always he enjoyed it. The seniors were interested in Horace Mann and also in the gymnasium.

Miss Mabel Locke, twin sister of Miss Martha Locke, dean of women, spent the week-end of March 15-17 in Maryville. Miss Locke teaches in the University of Chicago. With her was Miss Jane Fink, also a teacher at the University of Chicago.

One reporter was surrounded by a group of people from Hopkins, on Monday morning of Senior Day. As fast as names could be written down, they told the reporter they were Ed Gill, Maurice Peyer, Earl Hall, Ed A. Turner, Don Reynolds, Pete Peyer, Ronald Andrews, Max Moorehouse, Calvin Rainey, Beverly Moorehouse, Ruth Williams, and John Russell.

Betty Burke was one of the 54 seniors of Maryville who came for Senior Day. She plans to attend school here next year and major in primary education. Her sister, Laura Burke, attended the summer session last year.

The College campus was not unfamiliar to Betty Schuetz, Margaret Leger, and Ursula Meyer of Conception. These three high school seniors said that they had visited the campus while attending athletic events held here in the last few years.

Among the twelve high school seniors from Rosendale who visited on the College campus, Monday, March 25, was Richard McDonald. Mr. McDonald said that in all probability he would soon be in the armed services. He also said that his main interests were in farming.

Beulah Owen of Maryville plans to work in the office of the Record-Journal in Maryville after graduation. Basketball is her hobby. She remarked that they were having tournaments now among the classes.

Eva Marie Heckman, who came with the students from the Fillmore high school, says that she has done all her high school work in that school but did her grade school work elsewhere.

Talk Food

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (Soundphoto) — Former President Herbert Hoover, right, is shown as he conferred briefly with President Harry Truman at the White House recently. Hoover, World War I Food Administrator, and Chester C. Davis, who held a similar post for a time in World War II, and eleven other well-known citizens met with President Truman later to discuss a program of self denial by Americans so food may go to European and Asiatic areas threatened by famine.

Live Grenade a Toy

SANTA MONICA, CALIF. — (Soundphoto) — Police Officer Robert Young warns Patrick Nicholson, 6, of the danger of playing with live hand grenades. The youngster sauntered nonchalantly to classes at John Muir elementary school here, with a live grenade dangling from his belt by the ring. A tug on the ring or the grenade would have caused an explosion in five seconds.

A very fitting hobby for a high school student is the one of Dorothy Howell, senior at Burlington Junction. She is keeping a scrap book of all her high school activities.

Cecelia Gardiner, Letha Mallory, and Doris De Ver of DeKalb were agreed upon one thing. They all like to dance a great deal. The group was accompanied by Mr. E. H. Farley, the superintendent.

Joyce Cleaver, Mary Lou Buck, and Carolyn Hardin are three seniors from Winston who were here for Senior Day. Mary Lou wants to attend college somewhere, but the two other girls are not sure what they want to do.

Among the group from Pickett high school were Helen Clauser, Myrt Gilpin, Charlotte Scantlin, and Merle Yager. Merle thinks he will attend college here next year. Mr. Kenneth Israel, who graduated from the College last summer, was the sponsor of the group.

Doris Marquart, of Westboro, plans to major in music and Ruth Roberts in home economics. Both of the girls want to enter the College here next fall.

Robert Stevenson of New Point, plans to farm after his graduation.

Berneta Skinner, of Eagleville, has been awarded five typing pins. Her last pin signified a speed of 79 words per minute. She is working for next pin now.

Gerald Carter of Martinsville desires to enter the University of Missouri next fall.

Mr. Floyd Wilkerson, superintendent of schools at Fillmore, came with two automobile loads of seniors to the College on Senior Day.

Six students came from Bradyville, Iowa, for Senior Day. Dale Spires and Bob Ross were two of the six. They were sponsored by Miss Darlene Grebert.

Sam Ingles and Bill Coulter had "Arkoe" written on their identification tag, but the young reporter knew they were from Maryville high school.

Marguerite Whaley, a senior of the College and editor of the Northwest Missourian, was absent March 12-14, because of illness.

Mary Ann Kirchhofer of Maryville is eager to major in home economics at the College.

Douglas Thorpe of Maryville high school plans to major in mathematics and geography.

Lydia Stickered spent the week end of March 15-17 at her home near Tarkio.

Measurements Are Taken

The seniors of the College measured for their caps and gowns during the afternoons of March 20, 21, and 22. Maries Busby, Blaine Steck and Orville Brightwell were in charge of the measuring.

Ruby Jackson, a senior at College Springs, plans to go to College and major in Journalism and radio. She is in the senior play. She has for hobbies, reading and writing in a diary. Ruby writes grade news for the school paper. She likes sports of all kinds and is a guard on the basketball team.

Mr. Albert Fike, the superintendent of Burlington Junction schools, said that this was the second year that Burlington Junction has been asked by the College to present a skit for part of the Senior Day program.

From Gower high school, 14 students came for Senior Day. Keith Weekly, one of the seniors, said that he was enjoying everything.

Shirley Gignous of Tarkio plans to go to business school this fall, but in the meantime plans to work somewhere this summer. Her hobby is dancing.

Reva Anderson, a senior at College Springs, has reading, swimming, and basketball for hobbies. Typing is her favorite subject. Reva has a part in the senior play, "Spring Fever."

The twins of Grant City, here for Senior Day, were Marilyn and Madeline House. Marilyn is undecided about the college she will attend, but Madeline is planning to go to the University of Washington. Both girls are planning to be home economics majors.

The sponsor of the Grant City group was Mrs. Hazel Michel, a former student of the College. Mrs. Michel stated there were thirty-eight in her group.

Gene Ann Matthews of Grant City plans to attend college here this summer.

Lieut. Glenn Hansford of Stanberry visited with Ross Johnson, a senior of Horace Mann high school, on Senior Day. Lieut. Hansford has been in the Army three years and following his discharge, plans to enter the College in Maryville.

Marilyn Hale of Eagleville plans to attend college next year, but she is undecided what school she will enter. Her mother, Mrs. Mabel Ballew Hale was a former student of the College.

Melvin Phillips, a senior from Stanberry, reported that his future was "already planned for him." He will be inducted into the service after graduation. Melvin's hobby is the masterful art of playing the guitar.

Two of the visiting seniors from Skidmore were Max Jordan and Gerald Aldridge.

Joan Wilmot, a senior from Jameson, was one of the visiting seniors.

Corliss Gillett, whose mother, Mrs. Rucia Allen Gillett, attended this college, plans to enter next fall and major in music. She is a sister of Mary Gillett, a student of the College, and of Emily Gillett, an alumna.

Six boys and six girls came from Rosendale for Senior Day. They were interested in the swimming pool. Mr. Truman J. Hayden sponsored the group.

Darlene Nelson from Clearfield, Iowa, along with the rest of the senior class, is a member of the cast of their senior play. The title of the play is "Keep on the Sunny Side."

Richard Pittensbarger, a senior from Maryville, was among the visiting seniors at the college Monday, March 25. He said that his mother, the former Grace Davidson, was a former student of the college.

New Hampton had eight seniors at the College Senior Day.

Swimming Program Is Held March 25

College Students Present Exhibition to Senior Day Visitors.

Eleven women and two men took part in a swimming exhibition at the gymnasium on Senior Day. Dorothy Harshaw was the announcer.

The first number on the program was a relay race. Eight women took part in this. The object of the race was to dive in, swim to the other end, blow up a paper sack, pop it, and swim back. On the side that won were Esther Gasper, June Pollock, Lenore Holbrook and Frances Frazier.

Lois Gordon and Kathryn Krause demonstrated the elementary backstroke. June Pollock, Frances Frazier, and Charlotte Spahnower demonstrated the side-stroke. An exhibition of the breast-stroke was given by Sue Philip. Two types of formation swimming were also shown.

Free style swimming was demonstrated by Jim Jennings, who swam ten lengths of the pool.

Bob Hyde entertained the crowd with his "clown diving" and beautiful jack knives.

Life saving was next on the program. First, Sue Philip and Wren Stirren, dressed in slacks and shirts over their suits, dived in and disappeared under water. Next, Miss Stirren was the victim and Sue saved her, using the "front" approach. And last Miss Philip was the victim and Miss Stirren saved her, using the under-water approach.

Tandem swimming was next and Jim Jennings finished up the event with a demonstration of the use of "flippers" which fit over the feet and give one greater speed and leave one's hands free.

Those who participated were Lois Gordon, June Pollock, Lenore Holbrook, Charlotte Spahnower, Wren Stirren, Frances Frazier, Kathryn Krause, Esther Gasper, Wanda Ashford, Jim Jennings and Bob Hyde. Miss Magill sponsored the program.
